Goode, Birch Reelected; Override Wins, Bonds Fail

Mrs. Portia Goode and George "Bud" Birch, were re-elected to the Grossmont Union High School District Board Tuesday but they were challenged strongly by W. J. Dawsey, an industrial engineer.

Unofficial returns from all but a half dozen precincts produced these totals:

Mrs. Goode	11,343
George Birch	11,051
W. J. Dawsey	9,082
Robert Bates	7,096
George Clark	3,416
A. Thompson	2,374
R. Winchester	1,278

Surprisingly, the $2 million bond issue for high school improvements was defeated while the override tax issue passed Proponents of both issues had anticipated passage of bond and failure of the override.

The bond issue produced 17,334 yes votes and 9,293 no votes. A two-thirds majority was needed. About 65.09% said yes.

The override produced 12,523 yes votes and 11,248 no votes. A simple majority was needed. A 50c tax rate, the maximum, will be imposed.

School administrators were disappointed that the bonds failed. One pointed out that the canvass might produce enough additional votes. Only 130 more yes votes would pass it, it was said.

A surprise was the strong popularity of the override election. The override cost at 50c for each $100 assessed valuation would be approximately $12.50 for an average home.

The bond issue cost would not be more than $1.50 a year per home, one trustee said.

Mrs. Rosarie Graham Gets National Award

Mrs. Rosary Graham, of 2228 Central, Spring Valley, was awarded the Mutual Trust Life Insurance company's 1967 West Coast Good Citizenship Award at a luncheon last week at the Silvergate Yacht club.

The award was an engraved silver bowl. A check for $100 was also awarded to her to be used by the Spring Valley Historical Society for expenses in acquiring the property recently. She immediately passed the money on to Luke Barbour, president of the historical society.

The awards were made by A. F. Russo, the insurance firm's local agent.

Mrs. Graham was cited for her efforts as past president of the historical society, the Flood Control Committee, the S.V. Woman's Club, the S.V. Recreation District administration council and various S.V. youth and teenage organizations.

Mrs. Graham is also a member of the board of directors of the S.V. Welfare Society and S.V. Chamber of Commerce and serves as chairman of the "Keep Good Schools" committee of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District.

At the luncheon, the County Board of Supervisors presented Mrs. Graham with a resolution of commendation for "selfless acceptance of civic responsibility and her continuing dedication to the best interests of the people of Spring Valley."

The master of ceremonies for the presentation was John Clark, vice president of the insurance firm. He made the trip from Chicago to perform the duty.

Mayor Frank Curran gave her a key to the City of San Diego and various other civic leaders paid homage to her. More than 25 dignitaries attended the function.

Neilsen-Krog Team Upset McCandless-Walton

Two members of the board of trustees of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District; Dr. William McCandless and Victor Walton, who sought re-election, were defeated at the polls yesterday. Two opposing candidates, who vowed to "team up" against the incumbents, carried eut their promise.

The two candidates, Edward Neilsen, 45, an administration assistant in the office of the San Diego Police Chief and Christian Krog, 42, a stock broker won the election with Neilsen leading with 7,018 votes and Krog coming in second place with 6,601. The incumbents tallied 4,247 for McCandless and 3,987 for Walton.

The fifth man in the race, a former LM-SV board member, Robert Andreen came in on the bottom over 600 votes under Walton with 3,373.

McCandless and Walton's terms expire June 30.

The tax override of $1.97 per $100 assessed valuation will run for another year. The "yes" vote was 8,928 to 3,829 for the opposition.

Make Mine a Martini

"Make Mine Milk"

That's a slogan over which many thinking-drinking people stumbled as they reached for a jug of spirits.

Hundreds of milk mugs have been distributed by the San Diego Dairy Council with the slogan etched across them.

"Make Mine Milk" was a meaningful slogan and unquestionably influenced many people.

To back up the slogan, the Dairy Council each year selects a Dairy Princess—a sweet, wholesome miss who reflects all the good, clean things that abound on a modern farm.

And behind all this is the wraithlike image of old Bossy, the producer of vitamin packed milk. Clean, healthy and contented.

How much can a drink have going for it that has no alcoholic content?

But many milk mugs must have crashed this week when the news became generally known.

Linda Darlene Foreman, 19, the current dairy princess, had endangered herself by having a wreck at 5th and Beech streets in San Diego during the wee hours Monday.

What was she doing up driving the streets just before dawn?

She was taking clothes to her room mate, Mrs. Samee Williams, 30, a Modesto divorcee, who was Linda Darlene's chaperone—just as any healthy, pink fleshed dairy princess would do.

Confusing? Not at all! Mrs. Williams had been creating a disturbance in the pair's room at El Cortez hotel about 4 a.m. The management of the hotel, together with the police, were valiant but unable to question or get clothes on Mrs. Williams. So they dolled her up in a sheet and transported her so dressed (if that's the word) to County Jail on a disturbance of the peace charge which was later dropped.

Miss Foreman, in all 19 years of her brunette beauty rushed to her chaperone's aid but innocently rushed to the wrong jail, as who wouldn't with all that confusion going on. Mrs. Williams had not been taken to city jail.

Taking off for county jail, Miss Foreman's vehicle collided with a motorcycle driven by a 22-year old youth after she failed to observe a boulevard stop, police aver.

Our princess was administered the standard sobriety test and was not booked. She returned to her hotel where she went into seclusion, missing a half dozen personal appearances scheduled for her this week.

Mrs. Williams was released from county jail on $56 bail. The hotel management indicated it would not prosecute.

The dairy people understandably distressed must have some second thoughts about the potency of milk.

It's enough to make a fellow use his "Make Mine Milk" mug for a martini.

Why Viet Nam Is Hard To Believe

Bill Stout, the noted CBS newsman, gave fellow reporters something to cerebrate upon when he visited San Diego Sunday to talk to the local chapter of Sigma Delta Chi.

SDX is the national professional journalistic society and Stout was here for an "exchange of dialogue" with local newspeople on how best to handle such subjects as censorship in Viet Nam, Watts-type riots, Vice President Humphrey's good-will tour, and anti-war demonstrations.

Well informed, vocative, and confidence-inspiring, Stout

Higher Tax Rates Seen For Sanitation Here

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — Higher tax rates in the Lemon Grove and Spring Valley Sanitation Districts but a lower rate in the Rolando Sanitation District have been predicted by Warren A. Barney, directory of the County Department of Special District Services.

The Lemon Grove rate will go from $.477 per $100 of assessed valuation to $.511 for fiscal 1967-68.

The Spring Valley rate is expected to go from $.295 to $.334.

Rolando's rate is expected to drop from $.486 to $.432. The district does not have a bonded debt.

Textbooks Subject Of State Education Board

A multimillion-dollar textbook program featuring five "firsts" will be recommended to the State Board of Education during a two-day meeting which opens today at Los Angeles.

The board meets both days at 9 a.m. in Room 1138 of the Serra Building, 107 S. Broadway. It will be joined Friday by the State Curriculum Commission, which will propose the new textbook program. On Thursday, the commission will meet separately in the Los Angeles Room of the Statler-Hilton Hotel.

In making its selections in English, spelling, handwriting and music for grades 1 through 8, the commission envisions five milestones in the state textbook program:

1—The first English textbooks for grades 1 and 2.

2—The first dictionaries, which are being recommended for grades 3 through 8 as supplementary English books.

3—The first two-track English program, with separate books for fast and slow learners in grades 7 and 8.

4—The first cobasal texts in music, with two books at both grades 7 and 8.

5—The first kindergarten texts—two teachers manuals in music.

All told, there are 42 basic and supplementary texts for students plus various guides, manuals and charts for teachers. The books were chosen from a field of more than 450 submitted by 35 publishing companies.

Once adopted by the board and funded by the Legislature, the new books will reach classrooms in mid-1968 and replace selections that at that time will have been in use for up to 10 years.

Gov. Ronald Reagan's budget for 1967-68 contains $21.5 million for textbooks, of which $8.3 million is reserved for the new adoptions.

Adoption Week Set

Simplified and realistic present day adoption procedures which enable more families than ever before to build families through adoption were praised by Chairman Robert C. Cozens when the San Diego County Board of Supervisors proclaimed this week as Adoption Week.

One of the objectives of Adoption Week is to locate homes for children waiting for adoption. Currently homes are especially needed for Negro children and Caucasian boys of all ages. There are at least three Caucasian boys available for every girl

Couples who have a happy marriage, a steady income, good health and can offer love to a child usually qualify for adoption. Couples who already have children as well as the childless couple may apply.

State CofC Directors Oppose Car Owner Taxes

The average California automobile owner is the most heavily taxed citizen of the state and should not be burdened with any taxes for non-highway purposes, the Board of Directors of the California State Chamber of Commerce declared recently.

The Chamber directors also said, in a resolution unanimously passed, that the imposition of such taxes could jeopardize the entire state highway-freeway construction program.

Meeting in San Francisco to consider a number of issues presently facing California business agriculture and industry, the 49 man board, representing every section of the state acted on a resolution submitted by John Bronson, Sacramento, chairman of the State Chamber state-wide highway committee.

The resolution declared that, "various plans are being suggested whereby motor vehicle owners would bear the cost of financing the initial outlay and/or operating subsidies for other modes of transportation such as rapid transit or bus systems.

The resolution asserted automobile owners are "among the most highly taxed members of society", paying a heavy share of property taxes, being the largest single contributors to state and local sales taxes and the federal excise tax and, through gasoline taxes, supporting construction and maintenance of the highway and freeway system as well as a substantial part of city and county streets.

L.G. Trustee Poll Near Tie

Is Lyle Stumbaugh, the Certified public accountant more popular than Attorney Robert Sjogren?

Political observers will have to study that one a long time to come up with a definitive answer.

Both were candidates for re-election to the Lemon Grove Elementary School board and neither had opposition.

The vote was close. Stumbaugh got 2,087 and Sjogren got 2,079.

The difference is eight votes.

"I think we ought to call it a tie," a school administrator said.

Both men will serve for the next four years.

Lemon Grove did not follow the rest of the Grossmont Union High School District in the high school trustee's election.

Robert Birch and Portia Goode were reelected on a district-wide basis but in Lemon Grove. William Dawsey was elected.

Local residents liked Dawsey to the tune of 1,069 votes. Birch got 989 and Goode, 922. George Clark, the candidate who lives in Lemon Grove got 472.

LG Republican Assembly Opposes Federal Funds

The Lemon Grove Republican Assembly has gone on record as opposed to the use of federal funds by the LG community for local improvements.

Referring to HUD (Housing and Urban Development Authority), the resolution called attention to a recent report on such projects as compiled by U.S. News and World Report. The article revealed that, in spite of glowing terms used by promoters, the record shows that city officials are usually hampered by endless red tape, shifting rules, enticing offers followed by great frustrations, long delays and often unnecessary expenses for the communities in which high expectations had been raised.

The preliminary budget, Hobson said, is not balanced

The resolution also referred to a recent survey of mayors and city officials participating in such plans. According to the survey, a growing demand is rising that something be done to return control over local affairs to local officials.

The assembly reaffirmed its traditional stand in opposing federal handouts for fear that federal control would follow.

Hardison's Telespanish

Looking at the Spanish word "ocasion" one might think it to be a misspelling of the English word "occasion." Actually it is not. "Ocasion" is spelled with one "c" in Spanish and two "c's" in English.

The Spanish pronounciation differs considerably from the English. The last syllable is stressed and has a written-in accent causing it to be sounded "oh-kah-see-OHN.'

Common phrases in which "ocasion" is used may be "La ultima ocasion." (The last occasion.) or "Cual ocasion?" (Which occasion?). Others are "En esta ocasion." (On this occasion.) and "En otra ocasion." (On another occasion).

Words ending in "a" usually indicate that the word is feminine. Words ending in "o" usually indicate that the word is masculine. "Ocasion" does not end in "a" or "o." Thus, we must remember that it is a feminine noun without an "a" ending. It is easy to do this if we use the feminine article "la" or "una" at the same time we learn "ocasion." For example we could say "la ocasion" or "una ocasion" for "the occasion" and "an occasion" respectively.

Practice phrases are presented below with their related English translation and phoenetic guide. See how easy they are for you to lear. Dial 276-2762 on your telephone and practice saying the words and phrases with the two-minute automatic recorded voice.

PRACTICAL PHRASES

Say "En cual ocasion?" (ehn koo-AHL oh-kah-see-OHN) for "On which occasion?"
Say "La ultima ocasion." (lah OOHL-tee-mah oh-kah-see-OHN) for "The last occasion."

COMMON PHRASES

Say "Cuando canto used?" (koo-AHN-doh kahn-TOH oo-STEHD) for "When did you sing?"
Say "En otra ocasion." (ehn OH-trah oh-kah-see-OHN) for "On another occasion."

OTHER PHRASES

Say "La ocasion es ahora." (lah oh-kah-see-OHN ehs ah-OHR-rah) for "The occasion is now."
Say "Que bueno!" (keh boo-EH-noh) for "Good!"

State Education Board Urges School Aid Bills

President Johnson and Congress have been urged by the State Board of Education to provide adequate funding for two key school aid programs.

The board expressed alarm at cuts in Title III of the National Defense Education Act (NDEA) and Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) and called for expansion of the programs in California schools.

NDEA Title III provides California with $5.2 million to strengthen instruction to vital subjects such as mathematics, science, English and foreign language. Under ESEA Title I, California is receiving $73.6 million to raise the achievement of students from poverty backgrounds.

"These two programs have greatly improved California Education and it is vital that they be continued with sufficient financial support to meet their goals," said Milton L. Schwartz, chairman of the board's federal aid committee.

"The President's NDEA Title III appropriation request for the next school year would cut California's allocation to $3 million, while we expect school district requests to exceed $15 million," Schwartz said.

"Furthermore, NDEA Title III expires next year, and Congress is considering an extension of the program but without authorizing any specific amount of funds to guarantee its continuation."

Schwartz noted that California's ESEA Title I allocation was cut by $5 million from last year's mount, while Congress added more children to the program.

"We are supporting amendments to ESEA Title I which would increase California's share of the funds for low-income children to $93 million for the 1967-68 school year," Schwartz said.

Kiwanis Goals Sighted At Interclub Breakfast

A interclub breakfast-meeting of Kiwanis Clubs from Division 31, was held Saturday morning at the Bronze Room, La Mesa. The host was the Lake Murray Club.

Forrest Sterling, president of the Lake Murray Chapter was master of ceremonies, and introduced the following presidents for 1967 and their members: Raymond O. Partridge, Alpine; John V. Taylor, Brawley; Sal Zavala, Calexico; C. M. Blodgett, El Cajon Valley; Earl Cavanah Jr., El Centro; Charles Swearingen, Lakeside; Hardy Kuykendall, La Mesa; and Bob Divine, vice president of the Spring Valley club, representing president Verne Watts.

Past lieutenant governors of Division 31 were named: Nat Egert of El Cajon, 1956, when the Division was known as No. 11 (before splitting); Judge George R. Kirk, El Centro, 1959; F. Douglas Biggs, Lakeside, 1960; John A. Davis, La Mesa; 1961; Louis F. Nicholas, El Cajon, 1962; F. Howard Simpson, El Centro, 1963; Dr. M. Ted Dixon, La Mesa, 1964; Dr. Milton A. Smyd, El Cajon, 1965; and Norbert Tester, El Centro, 1966.

Special guests introduced were District Governor, Maurice Gladman; Governor-elect, Clyde Hurley; and Lt. Governor of Division 37, Vischer H. Root.

Governor Gladman was the guest speaker. He said, the problem of keeping the membership up is not only one of the Kiwanis clubs but of all organizations. Why members drop out has been a question no one seems to be able to answer. He urged that all officers of Kiwanis clubs make it a point to have interesting programs at all their meetings.

Most important, he stressed, is to see that there is good fellowship and communication.

Gladman said it has been only a few years since there was only one Kiwanis club in a foreign country. Now there are 19 foreign countries with Kiwanis members. He said that from year to year he Kiwanis objectives change, and that we should remember to keep these objctivs activated. A Kiwanian, first, he said, must have a belief in God and secondly to be a professional or businessman and to be able to guide and direct others.

Governor Gladman urged that all Kiwanis Club members take an active part in helping the younger up and coming Kiwanis (Key Club and Circle K) members, for, he stressed, the younger generation needs to be steered in the right direction to know where they are going.

Gladman said one of the objectives of Kiwanis is "Free Enterprize" and that many people today have forgotten what the profit system means. He said Kiwanis International is in the process of making a film, titled "Profit is not all Bad," which will soon be released to the public. He said also that international understanding also is a good project and that we should have better communication with the common people of the foreign countries . "Don't tell them," he said. "show them."

He concluded that each club should make it a point to discuss the problems that face us today.

SPRING VALLEY LUMBER, INC.

The Dimmer View

held the rapt attention of a roomful of newsmen with his down-to-earth news philosophy.

He was just back from covering the anti-war demonstrations in New York and San Francisco. The idea of organized opposition to a war Americans are already engaged in is so new that consideration of this development kept recurring in the dialogue.

"You can't write these people off as kooks no matter how they look or act," he reminded reporters. "They are Americans resisting non-violently an action of their government. It is beside the point that you may or may not admire them. They are citizens and their voices is part of the American sound," he said.

He agreed that the government-incurred credibility gap is partly responsible for the phenomena of 160,000 pople in New York and 60,000 in San Francisco marching to protest American government in Viet Nam. "There'll be more and bigger demonstrations", he warned.

Most newsmen are aware that the credibility gap become a confusion gap when government spokesmen deny the authenticity of stories and pictures. These stories are usually proven accurate. But while officials of the government are denying that such action took place, newsmen are being discredited. Suspicion and distrust is spawned during the period of denial, and, too often, it is the newsman who is innocent of lying who suffers. Officials caught by later proof, then often clain the information was withheld due to troop security although newsmen were permitted into the news producing area by the government in the first instance. As a residual condition, part of the public believes the government and some believe the news reports—and too many believe neither.

Overcoming this problem is certainly not the answer to demonstrations such as those which occurred last week but a more honest news policy on the part of the government wound narrow down the causes considerably.

Group Upgrades(?) Its Name

"Desert Circus Week" will be held as usual in Palm Springs. It is being held April 21-28 and it will attract a host of movie personalities as it has done in the past 30 years.

This year the event will be sponsored by the fun-loving "Sable and Stable Set."

Regardless of what may be thought of the sponsor's name, it is actually an upgrading of what they have been known as before this year.

In year's past the group was better known as the "Mink and Manure Club."

Deddeh's Bill Aids Employes

As the time for entering bills in the 1967 session of the legislature drew to a close, Assemblyman Wadie Deddeh introduced a pair of measures to help public employees in education.

Both certificated and classified personnel would benefit from one Deddeh proposal which changes the public school's monthly payday from the first working days of the month to the last working day.

The current pay procedure for these school staff members often cause delinquency which is inconvenient in paydays delayed by weekends and holidays. The once a month paycheck is for the completed month and the infrequency of payment serves as an efficiency device to save the state bookkeeping anyway.

Mt. Miguel Holds Employment Fair

An employment fair in conjunction with the California State Department of Employment and various San Diego employers is being proposed for Mount Miguel seniors who intend to hold a continuing full-time job after graduation.

The fair is scheduled for Tuesday May 2 from 1-4:30 p. m. at Mt. Miguel high school. Only those students who indicated full-time work, on questionaires sent to them in class were selected to attend this meeting. About 100-130 students will participate.

The Employment Fair planning committee includes Mr. G. Glaeser, vocational counselor; Mrs. S. Gorman, telephone company; Mr. M. Lockman, Department of Education; Mr. W. Monte and Miss L. Bruhn, Department of Employment; and Mr. J. C. Barrons and Mrs. V. Clapp, Grossmont District Office; and Mrs. R. J. Collette, Mt. Miguel PTA.

The first half of the program will include a general session of selected seniors; Mr. Glaeser will discuss the objectives of the Employment Fair; Mount Miguel principal Melvin C. Grant, the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley Chamber of Commerce, and Dr. Tom Warburton, Grossmont District Superintendent of Schools will all extend a welcome to the employers and students; two keynote speakers from business and industry; and two films from the Department of Employment on job interview interview and job application, followed by a question-and-answer period.

A refreshment break will precede the beginning of the second half of the program.

Occupational Choices

Students will then break into smaller groups dealing with their first occupational choice. A panel of four employers will talk with seniors about what is expected of them in a certain field of work. After the discussions, seniors are welcome to sign up for a job interview. They may then meet with employers of their second choice. This will conclude the meeting.

Purpose of the employment fair is to prove that a person who has the proper training in his field does not have to go to junior college to be successful. With the rate of college dropouts, it would be far better to enter the vocational field if one is undecided about future schooling, according to Glaeser.

Vocational Fields

Because of the great increase of interest in vocational fields and the need for more skilled workers, Mt. Miguel will take greater advantage next year of the vocational courses offered by Grossmont District high schools. For example, the Nures' Aide course will be a two-hour, two-credit course to be taught at a local convalescent hospital. Other courses to be scheduled are Radio, T.V. and appliance repairs; vocational metals (Helix); duplicating clerk (Helix); graphic arts (Helix); vocational clerical office courses (Miguel), which will consist of one hour in class and one hour on the job; and ornamental horticulture and landscape maintenance (El Cajon).

In addition to these classes, a change will be made in the homemaking department at Mt. Miguel for 1968-1969. The original homemaking class will be divided into 12 separate one-year classes: beginning foors, advanced foods, specialty foods, beginning clothing, advanced clothing, tailoring, decorative arts. housing and home decoration, child growth and development, home management, and applied psychology.

Great advances are being made in vocational fields to help the student who does not wish to continue his education through college to find a successful future in business or industry. According to George Glaeser, "The Employment Fair will be a valuable experience for seniors, vocational teachers, and counselors to learn about opportunities for entry level employment in Business, Industry, and Government".

To The Outside World

by Kathy Powell

There's a big, unanswered question circulating around Mount Miguel; and that question is, Where has spring gone? Has this particular season decided to just pass us by this year or did it just forget what time of the year it is? Wherever you are, spring, please show us that you plan to come after all.

On the speech scene, Miguel verbalizers put in their finest performance of the entire year at State Qualifying April 6-8, taking an over-all third in the tournament. Finalists were Judy Parker, Beverly Mauseth, and Barbie Combs in Dramatic Interpretation; John Wilson and Sharon Smith in Oratorical Analysis; Julie Tonner in Humorous Interpretation; Susie Gretz in Original Oratory. State qualifiers were Judy Parker, John Wilson, and Barbie Combs. These three will head for Santa Barbara May 6 to compete in state finals. Not to be outdone by his students, speech coach Sanders was elected president of the San Diego Spech Lague. Congratulaions to all.

Th senior class elected its senior standouts for the year in one of the best election turnouts Mount Miguel has had. Friendliest—Linda Simpkins and Louis Plante; Most Service to the School—Linda Simpkins and Mike Kreger; Best Sense of Humor—Georgia Kickbush and Dan Panhorst; Most Likely to Suceed— Gwen McGarvey and Eugene Kraszewski; Best Groomed—Pam Mavrinac and Jim Halverson; Mr. and Miss Senior Class—Jim Law and Barbara Lasher. All well-earned superlatives...

Murray, March Star In Circle Arts Show

A rollicking, boisterous comedy starring Jan Murray and Hal Mach, is the attraction at Circle Arts Theatre this week.

The comedy, "The Odd Couple", kept opening-week audiences laughing from its opening poker game scene through the final act—which also is a poker game scene.

Then, Murray and March come onstage for bows and indulge in a half-hour of ad-lib comedy from which the audience is reluctant to let them leave.

The story is all in the title. "The Odd Couple" is Murray and March. Murray's wife has divorced him but he maintains the eight room home. When March's wife kicks him out. he moves in with Murray. The plot, which allows for homosexual inferences, is entirely devoid of it.

The show is recommended for any who want an evening of theatre fun.

Coming next is Andy Devine and Irene Hervey in "Never Too Late".

Del Mar Fair Seeks Record

DEL MAR — The best. the biggest and the longest! That's what the 78th edition of the San Diego County Fair promises come June 23.

It should be the best because it has all the old favorites, plus a number of new exhibits and features, and a cavalcade of unparalleled entertainment headlined by two stage shows, the Don Diego Varieties, two circuses and a six-day rodeo.

It should be the biggest, because early entries, and a rush for exhibit space indicate the largest participation in fair history. Fair Manager Roy Welch is expecting to exceed last year's record attendance of 357,746.

And it will be the longest—because it will run 12 days, and no San Diego County Fair has ever run that long before. The final day will be July 4, a Tuesday.

Although it is about 200 miles longer, the Colorado River flows approximately one-tenth the water of the Columbia River.

LG-SV High Schools Feel Population Pinch

The ever present problem of rising population is felt in the Heartland area as enrollments mount in Grossmont schools.

Reports have come from Monte Vista and Mount Miguel. The problems are the same, shortsightedness when the existing facilities were constructed.

The principal of Monte Vista, Robert Brady is worried about providing enough science labs for his school. At present, five teachers use two labs. In another area, Brady voiced dissatisfaction at the lack of a cafeteria.

Brady explained, "We have a small kitchen which serves student lunches from 10 windows fronting the campus quad. On rainy days this situation is a real headache because we must use the gym, music room, and the study hall as a substitute cafeteria."

To solve the problem, both of classroom shortage and cafeteria space, Brady proposed a cafeteria wing with movable walls to create the necessary space for both.

Mel Grant, principal of Mount Miguel, finds himself in the predicament of housing 2,480 students in a school constructed to accomodate 2,200 and an expected rise of 172 in the student population for the coming school year.

Grant has proposed scheduling ninth grade athletics before the regular school day in an atempt to relieve the load in boy's physical education.

Helix HS Slates Leadership Meet

"United through Leadership', is the theme for the 16th annual Helix High School Leadership Conference to be held April 22 at the University of California at San Diego.

"This year's conference will be held with Granite Hills and Monte Vista," Kathy Gibbon, conference chairman, said.

Participants will be able to attend three seminars. Seminar topics will range from athletics and spirit to student government and publicity.

Ted Limpic, 1964-65 Helix ASB president, will be the guest alumnus.

There will be a swimming party at Holiday Ranch following the conference for all 11 participants.

A leadership banquet will be held on April 20 at the Bali Hai at 7:30 p.m. for all new and old Helix officers and cheerleaders. The installation of 1967-68 ASB officers and commissioners will highlight the banquet, Linda Shaw, banquet chairman, said.

L. G. BWL Hear Deputy Sheriff

Officer Charles Kelly of the San Diego County Sheriff's Department spoke to members and guests of the Lemon Grove Business Women's League Sunday evening, April 16, at the El Morocco Restaurant.

Officer Kelly, who is associated with the El Cajon substation, explained the general catagories of crime, percentages of solutions, and Lemon Grove's position on the crime rate scale. He stressed the necessity for private citizens to cooperate with officials in the apprehension of criminals. The audience detained him with many questions at the conclusion of his speech.

The occasion of this special program was the 20th annual installation of officers of the Business Women's League. Mrs. Fred Scheneman was installing officer. Art Chappelle entertained the group with accordian music. Retiring president, Mrs. Esther Jobe, handed the gavel to the new leader, Mrs. Emil M. Norman. Many of the group have been residents of Lemon Grove for many years. The landscaped plaza and the annual community Christmas tree are examples of their efforts. Mrs. Norman pledged her service in continuing these projects.

JIM HARTER

LG's Jim Harter Selected Army's Wrestling Captain

When Jim Harter entered the U.S. Military Academy in the summer of 1964, he was just a number, one of 991 candidates reporting for his first day as a cadet. Not even Army wrestling coach LeRoy Alitz was too aware of his presence, for up until that point Coach Alitz had very little to go on as regards Harter's athletic background at Mt. Miguel High School.

Today, many more people other than Coach Alitz know who Jim Harter is. This past month Harter reached a personal apex in his wrestling career when he captured the 177-pound Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association championship. He followed that up two weeks later with a fourth place in the NCAA meet at eKnt, Ohio, accounting for all eight Army points in the championship.

And now, still another honor has come Harter's way. By a vote of his teammates, Jim has been elected Army's wrestling captain for the 1967-68 season, and will lead the Cadets in their rigorous schedule which includes the likes of Maryland, Syracuse, Lehigh and Navy.

Coach Alitz attributes Harter's success this winter to a marked improvement in his attitude. "Jim has always had the ability to be a really fine wrestler," Coach Alitz opines, "yet until this year seemed to be holding back. His confidence has skyrocketed, he's matured considerably over the past year and he has learned to give more of himself now than ever before," h adds.

From his very first Plebe season, Harter has been a consistent winner for the Cadets. As a Plebe (or freshman) Jim was undefeated in eight dual meets, won three times by fall and went on to capture the 177-pound title in the annual Plebe Invitation tournament against some of the top freshment wrestlers in the East.

Jim moved into the varsity ranks as a sophomore, but in his first bout dropped a decision to Bob Karch of Maryland. He was a winner the next eight times, though, and finished the season with an 8-1 record, best on the Army team. In the Eastern meet at Pittsburgh, Harter gained the finals only to suffer a loss to Fran Ferraro of Cornell.

The 1966-67 campaign started on a bright note, with Jim winning his first five meets before going to the sidelines temporarily with a shoulder injury. He returned in time for the Syracuse meet, however, and won by fall to help the Cadets to a come-from-behind 23-16 victory.

Harter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin C. Harter of 8516 Troy st., Lemon Grove, was undefeated going into the season's finale with Navy, but his quest for an unbeaten season was spoiled when Navy captain Dave Palmer eked out a 4-2 decision. Now all that remained was the Easterns and the NCAA meet.

To win the Easterns, Jim had to wrestle four times. He started by decisioning Tim Diechert of Rutgers and Cliff Ensley of Syracuse. He then outpointed Joe Caprio of Lehigh, 3-2, in the semi-finals before defeating top-seeded Rich Lorenzo of Penn State for the title.

Kent, Ohio, was the next stop, and here Harter more than held his own against the cream of the collegiate crop. Mitch Gurdus of Toledo, Caprio of Lehigh and Jim Duschen of Iowa State fell one by one, and suddenly Jim was in the semi-finals. Eventual champion Fred Fozzard ended Harter's climb, but Jim recovered in the consolations to nail down a respectable fourth place.

Serving as captain of any athletic team is no easy chore, yet with the experience gained both mentally and physically this year, Jim Harter should more than handle the assignment in 1967-68.

The tour leaves August 12 and returns August 27. It includes two days in Guadalajara, five in Mexico City, a day in Taxco plus side trips. Hardison said luxury hotels are included in these cities.

The tour will be preceded by once-weekly orientation sessions for six weeks, during which members will see films, be familiarized with the culture, history and economy of Mexico, and have an opportunity to learn or improve their Spanish.

"This tour is different than others because we're concerned with learning, as well as fun," Hardison said. "Moreover, because of our personal knowledge of Mexico, we have access to out-of-the-way places unfrequented by others.

"We also can price the tour more attractively because we don't go through tourist agencies or maintain offices. Elena and I do all the work out of our own home."
